Independent Study

The diverse interest and abilities of students require that learning experiences be personalized. Frequently, this will mean that the local district will want to provide enrichment experiences beyond the scope of the regular classroom experience.

In order to meet this need, the district will establish an independent study program. Independent study shall be defined as a personal learning experience where the student assumes the major responsibility for the goals, activities and evaluation of the experience.

It is assumed that a student choosing the alternative of independent study has sufficient maturity and motivation to individually pursue and complete self-initiated study with a minimum of supervision.

The superintendent will develop guidelines for implementing and evaluating an independent study program as a means for students to acquire credit.
