Parent Involvement

Parent Involvement in School

The Board believes education succeeds best when there is a strong partnership between home and school. We therefore direct school administration and staff to do everything possible to support and strengthen their relationship with parents and all community citizens. We invite and encourage parents to actively and directly participate in school and in their children education. We hope parents will:

1. Encourage their children to put a high priority on education and to commit themselves to make the most of the educational opportunities provided.
2. Monitor their children's homework and provide a place at home that is conducive to studying and reading.
3. Keep informed and involved with district activities and issues. District and school newsletters, back-to-school nights, booster clubs, seasonal programs, concerts, activities and parent/teacher conferences provide opportunities to learn more about the district and your child's progress.
4. Become a school volunteer. For further information, contact your school principal.
5. Participate in school and district parent organizations, advisory committees, and site councils.
