

Dallas School District 2

Code: IIAA
Adopted: 10/14/02

Textbooks and Instructional Materials Review and Adoption

Textbooks and other instructional materials selected for the School District shall be compatible with and supportive of the District's mission and philosophy of education, District program and course goals, and established in compliance with state standards.

Recommended instructional materials should appeal to different interests and present different points of view. Recommended materials will contain the least degree of bias; racial, national origin, religious, disability, age, marital status, or sexual bias. Recommended materials will contain appropriate readability levels; support the District's adopted curriculum content; provide ease of teacher use; be attractive, durable, and available at a reasonable cost.

All basic instructional materials recommended for adoption need to be approved for use by the School Board. Prior to School Board approval, parents/legal guardians, students and interested District patrons will have the opportunity to review the recommended instructional materials and be encouraged to provide opinions about them and their use in the classrooms.
