

Instructional Technology

The following procedures have been developed to guide the use of technology in order to fulfill the educational needs of our children.

- Emphasis will be placed on providing technologies which improve learning.
- Technologies will be used by students and staff to improve productivity, expand resources and enhance communication at all levels.
- Technologies will be used to meet the needs of students and staff for visual, auditory, tactile, and kinesthetic input and output of information.
- Students and staff will apply technologies to explore issues of importance to them.
- Opportunities will be explored for students and staff to view practical uses of current technologies.
- Adequate resources will be made available to ensure that students and staff are trained to use acquired technologies.
- Partnerships with business, higher education, and other entities will be sought in order to expand resources.
- Instructional sites may develop plans for the use of technologies.
