Parent Conferences

Good communication between parents and schools about the academic and social progress of students is a very effective way to help ensure the best education for the student.

The Board strongly urges parents/guardians to take every opportunity to conference with teachers or other school officials about their student's academic progress or other matters which may be concerning them.

Teachers are directed to initiate a conference with parents/guardians when, in their professional judgment, such a conference would benefit the student. Conferences should be arranged for discussing both student weaknesses and strengths.
