Community Education

The community education concept is based on the belief that all communities have human and physical resources that can be identified and mobilized to work toward solutions to the various challenges faced by schools. Inherent in the community education concept is the belief that each district's approach to community education will reflect the needs of that particular community as well as that community's resources.

The Board further believes that, to the degree its resources allow, the district should be genuinely responsive to the needs and wants of its citizens through community education.

The Board further supports the district's efforts to work collaboratively with these organizations, agencies and groups in meeting the needs of students and families, particularly in regard to providing community-based learning opportunities.
