

Home-Schooled Instruction

A request, by a home school parent, for a copy of basic course descriptions will be made directly to, or forwarded to, the appropriate school principal. This request will be honored by presenting the desired course description at the earliest possible future time to the requesting parent.

State minimum standards for elementary and secondary schools will be made available upon request to the appropriate building principal.

Textbooks, workbooks and other supplies or materials desired from the district for use in the process of home instruction may be provided when available and upon deposit of a lost/damage fee.

If the items are available and not considered a part of the “presently adopted district materials,” the home school parent may be given the use of the items free of charge.
