Homebound Instruction

Eligibility

Any resident student who cannot attend school because of illness, injury, pregnancy or other medical reasons and whose absence may extend beyond a period of two weeks may be eligible to receive home tutoring (district expense) provided the request is accompanied by a physician's statement indicating that the student is unable to attend school and is not suffering from a communicable disease.

Tutoring shall be based on the formula that one hour of individual tutoring equals six hours of classroom instruction. The limit of home tutoring hours shall be five hours per week per student.

Credit for home instruction shall be treated the same as for classroom instruction.

Requests

Initial requests for home tutoring should be sent to the building principal of the school that the student is attending. The building principal, before approving the request, will notify the deputy superintendent. Arrangements for the teacher will be completed by the designated district administrator working with the building principal.

Home-teaching assignments shall be paid at the hourly rate given for regular extended contract work. Reimbursement for travel shall be at the standard district rate per mile.

Materials

The district will furnish all material used in the instructional program of home tutoring that is normally furnished to students in the regular program.

Students are expected to furnish material normally furnished by students in the regular program.
