Reproduction of All Copyrighted Materials

It is Board policy to adhere to copyright laws for both print and non-print materials, including electronic media and computer software. Staff or students who violate copyright laws may be subject to discipline.

All software installed on district-owned machines must be appropriately licensed.

When technology is located in an office, it is the user's responsibility to assure responsible, efficient, ethical and legal use of the technology. Administrators will develop procedures to assure appropriate use.

The district will develop procedures to communicate copyright laws for print and non-print materials, including electronic media and computer software, to staff and students.
