Special Education Services for Home-Schooled Students with Disabilities

If MESD receives notice that a parent intends to home school a student with a disability, MESD will notify the component school district and participate in a component school district IEP meeting to consider providing special education and related services in conjunction with home schooling. The component school district will provide written notice to the parent that a free appropriate public education will be provided if the student enrolls in the component school district.

This component school district notice shall be provided annually as long as:

1. The student remains eligible for special education; and
2. The student is exempt from compulsory education as a home-schooled student; and
3. The student is not receiving special education and related services from the component school district.
