Relations with Community Organizations

The Board recognizes and encourages use of the many ways in which the schools and community can work together to assist in the education of the community's young people. Among the most obvious is the educational visitation to the public agencies in the community, such as fire and police departments, post office, library, etc. Many private enterprises are also favorite field trips for groups of students, e.g., newspaper, local wood product factories, dairies, hospital and airport. Rather than trips into the field, many teachers will invite representatives of community enterprises into the classroom to show and tell of their work or experiences.
