Special Interest Materials

Supplementary printed materials for educational purposes, from nonschool sources will have the approval of the superintendent or designee before being used in the schools. This approval will be given to materials that are of obvious educational quality; supplement and enrich text; reference book materials for definite school courses; and are timely.

Printed materials from nonschool sources should not be displayed or distributed in the schools or on the school grounds without approval of the principal or designee. Students may not be used as agents for distributing nonschool materials to the homes without the approval of the superintendent.

Teachers may use special media aids for educational purposes with the express approval of the superintendent and principal even though these materials may bear the name of a commercial business firm that provided the aid.

Educational media secured from or through commercial sources will be approved by the principal prior to their use in the schools.

All copyright laws regulating the use of such material will be strictly adhered to.
