Instructional Technology

The proliferation of computers throughout American society requires that students receive instruction in their use. To ensure that maximum benefits are realized from the investment required for the equipment, the following policies will apply:

1. The primary purpose of microcomputers will be for instruction. Included in instructional uses will be CAI (Computer Assisted Instruction), CMI (Computer Managed Instruction), computer literacy and computer programming;
2. Computer users will recognize and adhere to existing copyright laws;
3. Computer hardware and software will not be removed from school premises without prior permission from the superintendent;
4. All hardware purchased must be durable, use a wide range of software, be compatible with other school hardware and have obtainable maintenance;
5. All software must be previewed by a staff member before purchase;
6. All purchases of software will be coordinated through the district network administrator to avoid unnecessary duplication. A catalog of school software will be available in the library;
7. A technology committee appointed by the superintendent will annually review and update a prior list for purchase of computers and a plan for computer acquisition and utilization;
8. The technology committee will annually recommend a proposed budget for computer hardware, software and accessories.
