The People and Their School District

It is the Board's duty to assure good public relations in areas for which it is responsible.

The Board believes that:

1. Public schools belong to the people who created them by consent and who support them;
2. Schools are only as strong as the support received from an informed public; and
3. Support of the people must be based on knowledge and understanding of the goals and efforts of public schools.

The Board shall expect its administrative and other staff members to assume, as a part of their responsibilities, plans for the achievement of good school-community relations.
