

Appraisal and Improvement of Educational Programs

The district, in cooperation with local district staff and advisory groups, will regularly seek to determine effectiveness of educational programs. All programs will be subject to systematic review for the purpose of assessing their quality in terms of stated objectives. A system for program revision and improvement will be established.

District professional staff will be responsible for documenting and reporting needs for program improvement, staff development, program expansion, reduction or elimination.

Program renewal will be based on an evaluation by professional staff or by an approved consultant.

Advisory committees, consisting of professional educators and community members, may be used to assist in program development and evaluation activities, as recommended by the superintendent and approved by the Board.

District administrative staff will determine which program needs have highest priority and the decision, based on documentation, will affect program development or reconstruction.

Curriculum coordinators may be appointed by the Board to provide leadership in curriculum development. Normally, these appointments will coincide with the cycle of textbook adoption.

Within budget limitations, the district will provide funds for program revision and improvement.
