Care of District Property by Students

Damage to district property is a serious matter and one which should be the concern of all parents, students, and employees. Oregon law states that no student shall willfully damage any district property and that one who does may be disciplined, suspended, or expelled. Legal action against a student and parents or legal guardian, may be taken to recover damages to district property by a student.

The Board declares its intent to hold students and their parents or guardians responsible for loss or damage of district property. Notice of the district's intent will be provided annually in the district Student Responsibilities and Rights Handbook as required by law.
