Student Safety and Conduct to and from School

The schools assume authority over the conduct of students and exercise care for their safety when they are on school grounds, in school transportation, and on supervised field trips and excursions. The schools cannot assume responsibility for student safety or exercise authority over student conduct while students are going to or from school in other than district transportation.

The schools will cooperate with parents, property owners and police in dealing with problems or hazards created by students while going to and from school. Such cooperation may include the identification of students, counseling with them, and the notification of police and parents.
