Personal Communication Devices and Social Media

Students may be allowed to use and possess personal communication devices on district property and at district-sponsored activities provided such devices are not used in any manner that may disrupt the learning environment or district-sponsored activities, or violate Board policies, administrative regulations, school or classroom rules, state and federal law¹. As used in this policy, a “personal communication device” is a device that emits an audible signal, vibrates, displays a message or otherwise summons or delivers a communication to or from the possessor of the device. This includes other digital audio devices such as but not limited to iPods.

Students may not access social media sites using district equipment, while on district property or at district-sponsored activities unless the posting is approved by a district representative.

Social media Web sites are Web sites such as, but not limited to, Facebook, MySpace and Twitter.

The superintendent is directed to develop administrative regulations and/or approve school rules as necessary to ensure that student use of such devices is consistent with this policy. Administrative regulations may include grade- or age-level possession and/or use restrictions by students on district property and at district-sponsored activities, consequences for violations and such other provisions as the superintendent may deem necessary. The superintendent is responsible for ensuring that pertinent provisions of Board policies, administrative regulations and school rules governing personal communications devices are included in student/parent handbooks, reviewed annually and updated as necessary.
