Organizations

Student organizations must comply with all rules of the College. Such clubs shall be organized and chartered according to procedures described in the student constitution and students interested in organizations are advised to examine the Associated Student Government (ASG) constitution. All student organizations will be authorized in harmony with this constitutional directory.

Each club must function as a service club, contributing positive and worthwhile service to the College as well as the community.

Any group or club desiring to organize shall present to the ASG executive council a constitution for consideration and approval by an appointed committee, headed by the ASG Vice President and two committee members. Such clubs must open their membership to all College students as set forth in the associated student government constitution. All clubs and associations must have a faculty advisor and said advisor must be present at all quorum meetings.

All accounts will be maintained in the business office with appropriate accounting procedures.
